

China Memories

The adoption of your child is a special time. One that is meant to be treasured for forever; in a special way. But when you come back from China, your precious child requires most of your time. Although we all want to create a "Memory Book" for our children, finding the time to do so is usually another story.

Hand crafted Chinese Silk Brocade

That's why I've created my China Memory Book. I've written much of the story for you, but I've left plenty of blanks for you to record the special details of your personal story.

Each book is created by hand, "from the inside - out". I begin with book board and end with the cover of Chinese Silk Brocade. Each page is decorated with an unobtrusive but unifying border and an ancient Chinese graphic design that I have colored myself. Printed on acid-free, lignin-free paper with archival quality inks, it is meant to last.

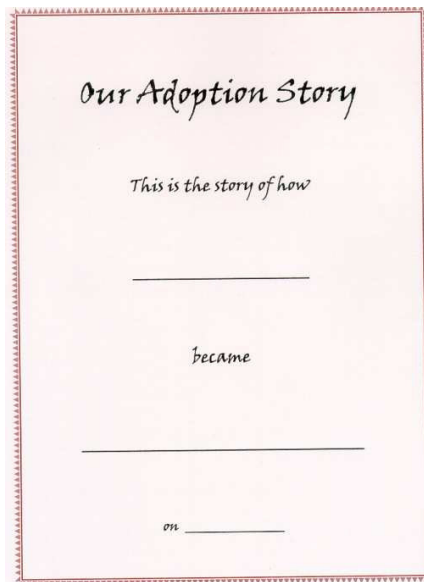

Post-bound, each page is encased in acid-free, lignin-free, self-adhesive page protectors. A variety of photo pages and additional self-adhesive pages may be purchased at your local Hallmark™ store so that you may continuously add to "Our Adoption Story", creating a living record as time goes on.

Each book comes with one set of post extensions and one page that has only the border and a graphic design so that you may use it for photos or other memorabilia, and one lined page with a border and graphic so that you may add additional text if desired. More extensions and blank or lined pages may be purchased from me as needed.

Here are a few sample pages from the book. Each page you on a step-by-step process through your adoption.

Beginning with your decision to adopt a child, it takes you through the paperwork, the endless waiting, the exciting referral, the endless waiting through the wonderful union with your child.

There is a place to record your travels in China, meetings with Chinese officials, the trip home, and meeting friends and family at home.

You may select either a single parent or a two parent version. Also, with the addition of a single page, you can include events that took place prior to your child's adoption by choosing the optional "birth-page".
